SEARCH

Searching for data

Passport's powerful search capabilities allow you to find information quickly.

The screenshot displays the Passport search interface. At the top, there is a 'Search' header with a sub-header: 'Create new detailed custom queries, quickly jump to specific data, or access recent and/or saved searches.' Below this, there are three main search options: 1. 'Search Full Tree' (highlighted with a blue background and a '1' callout), which includes a dropdown menu for 'CATEGORIES AND TOPICS' and a 'GO' button. 2. 'Browse Tree' (highlighted with a grey background and a '2' callout), which also includes a dropdown menu for 'CATEGORIES AND TOPICS' and a 'GO' button. 3. 'SEE DATA NOW Quick Market Statistics' (highlighted with a light blue background and a '2' callout), which includes two input fields: 'Add Categories and/or Topics (maximum of 15)' and 'Add Geographies (maximum of 15)'. To the right of these options, there are two tabs: '3 RECENT SEARCHES' and '4 SAVED SEARCHES'. The 'RECENT SEARCHES' tab is active and shows 'No recent searches are available.' The 'SAVED SEARCHES' tab is inactive.

Global Economic Forecasts: Q3 2017
Strategy Briefing | 30 Aug 2017

August, 2017 Global Economic Forecasts: Q3 2017

OVERVIEW

Global Economy

- The global economy has started 2017 strong with real GDP growth gaining momentum and rising to 3.6% in 2017 Q1. We have maintained our global real GDP growth forecast at 3.5% for 2017-2018. Despite standing above the annual 3.2% growth in 2016, the forecast is still considerably below the pre-crisis growth levels.
- The economic activity is forecast to accelerate in both advanced and emerging economies, reaching 2.0% and 4.7% growth, respectively, in 2017. Emerging markets, however, will remain a principal driver of the global economic growth, accounting for as much as 74% of the world's real GDP expansion. This share is predicted to surge further up to 79% in 2020.
- The uncertainty surrounding the global growth forecast has somewhat receded since May 2017. The political risks have diminished in Europe, with the region rebounding more strongly than expected. The populist parties have performed worse than expected in a number of Eurozone elections, which suggests that the populist surge might begin to fade.

Beer Global Overview: The Story Beyond Stagnation
Briefing | 07 Sep 2017
The global beer market remains in negative growth territory for the second consecutive year. Volumes are being dragged down by the poor performance of economy lager, as the consumer shift towards higher-quality beer becomes increasingly entrenched across markets. Changing consumption habits, advancing technology and macroeconomic volatility are creating an environment that is without doubt challenging, but which also holds distinct pockets of potential.
